Environmental Conscience

The story of Diamond Tropical Hardwoods grew out of a desire to help and to serve others. Kevin and Christine Yardley met while both were studying at Harvard University. Upon graduating, the newlyweds volunteered to teach English for the WorldTeach Organization in rural Costa Rica. Because there was no guarantee of them being stationed in the same area, Christine became a teacher in the program while Kevin began dedicating his prodigious energy to protecting the environment in an entrepreneurial way. Costa Rica had some of the fastest deforestation rates in the world, so there was a desperate need to offset this environmental destruction. Costa Rica's bio-diversity includes 5 percent of all known species in an area the size of West Virginia. The reforestation effort in Costa Rica has done a great deal of good.

In 1992, Diamond Tropical Hardwoods bought their first degraded cattle farm and began planting teak. In addition to farming teak, they have planted seventy other species including endangered native trees such as cocobolo rosewood, Spanish cedar and mahogany.

Today, their plantations protect more than 1000 acres of primary and secondary jungle. The company has seen the impact of logging in the rainforest and the widespread harm that it produces. This is why Diamond Tropical Hardwoods adheres to internationally recognized Forest Stewardship Council environmental principles and has chain-of-custody (CoC).

Our business is a member of the Forest Stewardship Council (FSC).

PROTECT OUR ENVIRONMENT!
USE ONLY RESPONSIBLY REFORESTED, SUSTAINABLE HARDWOODS!

The mark of responsible forestry

Teak (Tectona Grandis) is one of the finest woods in the world. The best outdoor furniture and boats are made with teak. Teak has natural oil and silica that make the wood very durable. We stock a lot of S4S and sanded teak including tongue and groove for siding, ceilings, and working on boats. Lots of slabs, crosscuts, and bases for stools, coffee and dining tables.

Cocobolo Rosewood (Dalbergia Retusa) is the most popular true rosewood. The wood has brilliant colors with oranges, reds, and blacks all swirled together. We stock a lot of squares for pool cues, pen making and turnings as well as lumber and veneer. We have a proprietary, hand-picked, super figured line of cocobolo we call KING.

Goncalo Alves/Tigerwood Ebony (Astrononium Graveolens) is a hard, dense wood with striking black lines that can look like ebony. Goncalo with some white wood/sapwood highlights the brilliant oranges, reds, and yellows with black stripe.

Monkeypod (Pithecolobium Samans) is similar to figured black walnut. We stock a lot of giant slabs and crosscuts used for dining and coffee tables and bars.

Spanish Cedar (Cedrella Odorata) is a durable wood with great properties. Popular for humidors and instrument making, we stock a lot of quartersawn guitar necks and bodies and 1/4" thick sanded veneer.

Mahogany (Swietenia Macrophylla) is straight grained and stable and sought after by musical instrument makers around the world. We stock a lot of quartersawn guitar necks and bodies.

Granadillo (Platymiscium) is very similar to rosewood with a range of colors from dark red to pink and can have lots of character with dark stripes. Popular in fine furniture, flooring, and musical instrument making, granadillo is used in fine turnings and cabinetry.

Mango (Mangifera Indica) is the highest figured wood we have come across in 30 years in the exotic wood industry. Very similar to koa, mango has curly grain, spalting, yellows, pinks, oranges, tans and green colors with lots of fiddleback, burls, whirls, and swirls.

Yellowheart (Maclura Tinctoria) is a hard, dense wood with brilliant color that is long lasting. Used in cutting boards, turnings, pool cues, and marquetry, yellowheart has nice ribbon figure and better tap tone than mahogany.

We have a fine woodworking business to edge, plane, sand, roundover, and change the shape of wood. This can save time and money on shipping as rough wood is heavier and more bulky than finished wood.

S4S = surfaced four sides

E2E = eased two edges

Quartersawn = vertical grain that makes the wood more stable and is required for the best teak decking, guitar necks, and other uses.

We own FSC certified reforestation projects, sawmills, and kilns as well as a fine furniture factory. We make many lines of furniture and wooden products for the best companies such as Martin Guitar, Knoll, Woodcraft, etc.

Please call or email howdy@diamondteak.com to check out how we can lower your costs by edging, planing, sanding, shaping, etc. while providing highly figured, hand-picked exotic tropical wood.

Finished wood costs less to ship! We appreciate your business.

Many of our clients tell us that our wood is so beautiful it will shoot the socks of the ends of your feet even if you are wearing shoes!

We can guarantee that we will plant trees whenever we cut one down.

We use sustainable wood that is beautiful with nice figure and character. Wood products protect the environment since we have FSC certified reforestation projects with chain-of-custody (CoC) so you are guaranteed of the sustainability of this natural substance. Solid wood adds beauty and character while sequestering carbon to make the world a cooler place.

We have been reforesting native species of trees in democratic Costa Rica for more than 30 years. Few know that some trees such as cocobolo rosewood, mahogany, and Spanish cedar are in danger of extinction. Trees are not as photogenic as tigers and sea turtles. But trees are essential to a healthy environment that includes clean air and water.

Please consider our woods so that we can continue protecting the environment and empowering people in the less developed countryside in the tropics.

Thanks, Diamond Tropical Hardwoods
